SHERIFF BRADY MANDAN, DIES IN ELKS HALL

Well Known Official of Morton
Co., Passes Away of Heart
Affection Suddenly

SHERIFF TWO YEARS

Was Secretary-treasurer of N.
D. Sheriff's Association
And Candidate This Fall

Jack Brady, sheriff of Morton county, died in the Elks club at Mandan late yesterday afternoon of heart affection. The end came while Mr. Brady was asleep, he having gone to sleep while sitting in a chair.

The news of his death was a shock to many citizens of both Bismarck and Mandan. Mr. Brady was a large man, 42 years of age and appeared to be the picture of health. He had been in Bismarck the day before calling on friends.

Born in Minnesota, Mr. Brady came to Morton county with his parents 30 years ago. He was for several years custodian of the Elks club in Mandan, being much interested in the work of the order. Two years ago he was elected sheriff and he was candidate for re-election, having been one of the two high in the primary. He was secretary-treasurer of the North Dakota Sheriff's Association. He had never married.

Mr. Brady has three half-sisters in Mandan and a half-brother living there; also a half brother in Washington, D. C., and a brother in Chicago.

Funeral services will be held in the Catholic church at Mandan on Friday morning, with the Elks in charge. The body laid in state in the Elks hall today.

The sudden death of Mr. Brady left J. J. Strain, nonpartisan, as the only candidate for sheriff on the ballot in Morton county. Investigations made by attorneys here showed when William Langer was Attorney-General his department handed down an opinion to the effect that in case of death between the time the names of nominees are certified, 30 days before the election, and election day, the vacancy cannot be filled on the nonpartisan ballot. The opinion held that on a party ballot the Republican or Democratic committees could fill such vacancies, but no provision in the law affected county officers. It is probable that some opponent of Mr. Strain will make the race on stickers.

ALLEGED TIRE FRAUDS TOTAL NOW $35,000

More Than $10,000 Received
In Mail, Result of Advertisements

Minneapolis, Oct. 26.—Alleged fraudulent operations of a tire selling agency by Joseph Schwindemann of Minneapolis have reached $35,000 today when more than $10,000 in checks, money orders and one dollar bills were received in the mail by R. H. Haggard, postal inspector, who is investigating Schwindemann's operations.

Schwindemann, according to postal authorities, had mailed out 10,000 cards offering standard makes of automobile tires at greatly reduced prices if orders were accompanied by deposits of $1 for each tire. He operated under the name of the "Edmund Tire company."

Schwindemann contends that a Chicago man is back of the office and has the tires for sale. He is being held on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Meanwhile postal authorities have discovered that automobile dealers from Sioux Falls, Detroit, Muscatine, Davenport, and Eau Claire have come to Minneapolis in search of the Edmund Tire company with the purpose of buying out the firm.

Jourgen Olson has asked reopening of the case in which N. J. Pierce was awarded a judgment of $18,462.62 against him and a bonding company because of alleged non-payment for grain stored in an elevator in Van Hook. The petition said there was valid defense against $7,000 of the judgment. Judge Nussle gave a 10-day stay of execution to permit filing of additional papers.

PORTLAND QUIET DURING I. W. W. STRIKE

Officials Cancel Instructions
To Flood City With Labor
Agitators

Portland, Oregon, Oct. 26.—With the local strike committee of the Industrial Workers of the World sending out telegraphic requests to Chicago headquarters to cancel reported instructions to members to invade Portland, and with evacuation of the Portland I. W. W. hall by police under instructions of Mayor George L. Baker, the situation here today was much relieved. Coincident with the turning over to the I. W. W. of their local headquarters, the police, also under the Mayor's instructions, surrendered half a truckload of I. W. W. literature which had been seized.

The Portland I. W. W. strike committee has issued a statement, which was incorporated in the telegram to Chicago headquarters, to the effect that the "situation is well in hand," and that all except nine men had been freed from jail. It was stated that the police were ordered away when it was found that they had no legal right to hold the hall. Chief of Police L. V. Jenkins, announced that the campaign against non-resident radicals would continue.

Mayor Baker declared in his statement that there was no let up in the campaign on troublemakers adding:

"I intend to observe the spirit as well as the letter of the law. Consequently, the police were advised to move out of the hall. I can say definitely though, that the hall will be closed by lawful means soon."

"We shall keep up our policy of the past in regard to the I. W. W. Those who are residents of Portland and behave themselves will not be molested. But those who cause disorder during the strike will be arrested and given their choice of a term on the rockpile or a trip out of town. We are not going to tolerate demonstrations on their part."

FIRST SKIRMISH IN MATZENAUER DIVORCE

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Superior court records here today revealed the first legal skirmish in the divorce action instituted by Flody Glotzbach, chauffeur, against his wife, Madame Margaret Matzenauer, prime donna.

Madame Matzenauer filed a disposition denying her husband's charges of indignities. The divorce action was started by Glotzbach, of Carmel, Calif., in whom Glotzbach is said to have manifested great interest.

To substantiate her charges, attorneys produced a letter which had been intercepted by Madame Matzenauer, in which the Carmel woman unbraided Glotzbach for making her suffer and threatened to reveal an intimate relationship. The letter ended with the statement: "Never mind, she will know your life history."

Madame Matzenauer admits in the affidavit that she asked her husband to hook up her dress because she had dismissed her maid for their honeymoon at Glotzbach's request. But, she contends, such services are performed by nearly every husband.

Grade crossing accidents have increased during 1922.

WITNESS SURE OF IDENTITY IN HALL CASE

Mrs. Gibson, Pig Raiser, She Heard Name of Murderer
Called That Night

DESCRIBES THE PAIR

Tells of Following Them
And Witnessing the Crime

(By the Associated Press)
New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 26.—Mrs. Jane Gibson, pig raiser, who claims to have witnessed the murder of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, today told a newspaper man that she had identified the man who she says shot the rector, as well as identifying the woman, who she asserts was with the slayer.

Mrs. Gibson, who was on the Phillips farm the night of the double murder looking for corn thieves, and who claims to have heard the slayer's name called by his woman companion, said that she did not know the identity of the slayer at that time but that she recently has recognized him in the prosecutor's office in New Brunswick.

Mrs. Gibson, who, it was learned yesterday, has told the authorities the name of the slayer's companion, said today that she had once met her at a rummage sale and instantly had recognized her at the scene of the murder on the Phillips farm. She added that she had seen her since the double killing and was sure of her recognition.

Amplifying her previous story, Mrs. Gibson said she rode on a mule back from her home into De Brussy's lane following a wagon without lights which she thought was driven by corn thieves.

She said she saw the wagon turn into Easton Avenue towards New Brunswick. The lane intersects Easton Avenue just beyond "Lover's Lane" in which the two bodies were found.

Just at the intersection, Mrs. Gibson said she saw an old style automobile standing in De Brussy's lane. Beside the machine, she declared, were a man and a woman, and she stopped her mule about 40 feet from them. Just then, her story goes, another machine turned into the lane and the flood of light from its head lights fell upon the two persons beside the old automobile.

The second automobile, she said, backed out of the lane and sped away on Easton Avenue. Mrs. Gibson said but while its lights were thrown on the old machine she recognized the man and woman. She says they both stepped into the shadow before the second automobile turned around.

Describing Woman
Mrs. Gibson said today that the woman wore a gray coat extending to her knees. She says the man had a heavy dark mustache, bushy eyebrows and was of a heavy build.

"When I went to the prosecutor's office," the farm woman said today, "I saw this man and recognized him as the one who was standing beside the car."

Mrs. Gibson says that after the second car had withdrawn the man and woman crossed De Brussy's lane and went into the field in a general direction of the crab apple tree.

Judge Mott, the new special state prosecutor, came to New Brunswick today and summoned every principal in the case to the court house so that he might personally hear their stories.

Mrs. Hall, widow of the rector, James Mills, husband of the woman who was killed; Charlotte Mills, their daughter; Henry and William Stevens, brothers of Mrs. Hall, and Mrs. Gibson, all will be questioned.

Followed Pair
Mrs. Gibson in continuing her story said that instinctively she followed the man and woman who crossed the field.

"When I turned into the dirt road," she said, "I lost one of my moccasins. I dismounted to get it. When I had put it on and climbed back up on my mule's back, the couple had disappeared."

"A few moments later I heard loud voices in the direction of the crab apple tree. I saw a man and woman. Then out of the darkness I heard more loud talking as if all were quarreling. Then I heard a shot. I heard a woman's voice scream in horror."

Mrs. Gibson said the woman who screamed uttered a name and shouted:

"Please, please."

"And then," said Mrs. Gibson, "I put my heels into my jennie mule and went on home."

The price is down five cents today, she said.

HALL PROBES ON WRONG TRACK; SAYS FAMOUS QUAKER SLEUTH

DETECTIVE ELLIS PARKER.
WHO?

Detective Ellis Parker's theory that fanaticism may have dictated the Hall-Mills double murder suggests these questions:

Was the murderer one person or a group of persons?

Were the rector and choir singer slain because of jealousy—or in punishment for fancied transgressions?

Did the slayers have a personal animus toward them—or did they plan a terrible lesson for the whole community?

Were the love letters scattered about the bodies as a message to the world that the murderers believed the man and woman had erred against the social law.

Did the slayers arrange the bodies in the form of a double cross as a symbol that the purpose of the crime was punishment?

The famous Quaker detective is grimly silent over these questions.

MOVE TO SET ASIDE VERDICT OF $10,000

Insurance Company Sets Up
Unsufficient Proof of Death

Superior, Wis., Oct. 26.—An appeal to set aside the verdict of the federal court jury awarding Mrs. Leona Sallstad-Richardson $10,000 to be paid by the New York Life Insurance company as insurance for the death of Mrs. Richardson's first husband, Edward J. Sallstad, will be made by the counsel for the insurance company before Judge C. Z. Luse in federal court here today.

Claims that the verdict of the jury, finding that Edward J. Sallstad perished in a fire at Lake Nebagamon August 7, 1920, was unreasonable, are made by the insurance company. Counsel for the insurance company assert in their motion to set aside the jury's verdict that the court erred several times in permitting the excluding of certain evidence during the trial. Charges that members of the jury misconducted themselves during the trial are also entered in the complaint.

PEGGY CAFFEY TO TAKE STAND IN PHILLIPS CASE

(By the Associated Press)
Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 26.—Peggy Caffey was expected to take the stand for the state today at the trial of Mrs. Clara Phillips, charged with having beaten Mrs. Alberta Tremaine Meadows, 20 years old widow, to death with a hammer.

ASK ANNEX TO U. S. BUILDING FOR COURT USE

The question of an appropriation to provide an annex to the Bismarck federal building and re-garrisoning of Fort Lincoln were taken up with Senator Ladd by local business men yesterday before he left for Steele to continue his speaking tour. The local men asked that the facilities at the federal building be increased so that the entire federal court machinery could be moved to Bismarck as contemplated when Andrew Miller was appointed federal judge. Senator Ladd also was taken to view the new Missouri river bridge. He promised aid in securing the re-garrisoning of Fort Lincoln and the improvements asked at the federal building.

JURY FINDS GIRL GUILTY

White Cloud, Mich., Oct. 26.—Mrs. Media Hodell, 20 years old swamp country girl, was found guilty of first degree murder by a circuit court jury here today in connection with the death of her invalid father-in-law, David Hodell. The jury had deliberated a little more than two hours.

BY BOB DORMAN.
NEA Service Staff Writer:
Toms River, N. J., Oct. 26.—They're wrong—all wrong!

"They're following blind trails in the Hall-Mills murder mystery. "When this chaotic crime is solved, I believe there will be a solution upsetting every theory so far advanced."

Detective Ellis Parker is speaking. The famous Quaker detective, who has solved and secured convictions in 90 out of 99 murder cases—with three cases still untried—gave NEA Service his views on the New Brunswick mystery in which a church rector and choir singer were slain more than five weeks ago.

Parker, 51 years old and 28 years a detective, has had many appeals to enter the Hall-Mills case. "Even though the end has come to his latest successful case, in which Mrs. Ivy Giberson was convicted of the murder of her husband, Parker has been loathe to discuss the famous church mystery."

"I don't like to talk about a case on which others are working," he said. "And I want it understood that I will only go to work on it by order of my superior officers—and with the full consent of all those now engaged on the case."

"Should I be assigned to the case, I would follow my usual procedure. I would want all the facts and theories thus far obtained by the authorities now working on the case."

Getting a Lead.
"I would want every newspaperman to give me all his data and theories."

"I would question each person even remotely connected with the case, including the church members."

"All statements would be made a matter of stenographic record."

"No man can fully carry in his mind the exact statements made to him. A careful comparison of all these statements would probably show discrepancies. They always do."

"Ironing out these discrepancies would probably furnish a lead."

"Motives are no safe guide in a murder case. How can we know what another person is thinking? A motive for murder may be born in an instant."

"Thinly veiled insinuations have been made against Mrs. Hall."

"But isn't it a natural thing for a God-fearing woman whose husband, a minister of the gospel, has mysteriously disappeared, to hire a lawyer to conduct an investigation?"

"Isn't it natural that such a woman would be unwilling to expose her religious faith to the ever-ready sneers of hypocrites who gloat over the downfall of a leader in any church?"

"Could not the murder have been the product of the twisted brain of some fanatic who considered himself appointed by Heaven to avenge the insult he fancied a minister of the Gospel had offered to his God?"

Get Facts First.
"It is only by reasoning, examination and tabulation of all the facts in a case, with plenty of hard work thrown in, that we can arrive at the truth."

"Story book detectives are good, but they start with a theory and then make the facts prove the theory. The detective in real life must take his facts as he finds them, and build them into a theory that will stand the test of court."

Parker is short and bulky, with faded blue eyes, bald head and a short choppy mustache, and an inveterate pipe smoker. As a Quaker he testifies on the witness stand by affirming instead of by oath.

Probably the most difficult case he has solved was the murder of Sergeant Michael Gregor at Camp Dix. When the skeleton, identified by keys lying nearby, was found Dec. 3, 1921, Parker was called in—and picked the murderer out of 175 men at Camp Dix on the spot. The fact that only this man could clearly recall the events of Sept. 9, the day Gregor disappeared. It took months to complete the inquiry, but the man Parker picked out eventually confessed.

HOMES OF WEALTHY ARE FIRED UPON

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Four direct hits on the home of Francis C. Farwell in the exclusive Lake Forest district with inch and a half by four inch steel jacketed shells, with duds falling on nearby estates of other wealthy residents of the North Shore suburb, today was the subject of an inquiry by army officers at Fort Sheridan. None of the Farwell family was at home when the shells burst yesterday, but two children were frightened badly, and shells also hit near two male caretakers.

One explanation was that troops being drilled in the handling of a one-pounder either made an error in direction or greatly overshot their target. Brigadier General George Van Horn-Moseley, commander of the sixth corps area, began an immediate investigation. Captain Waldo Evans, commanding at the Great Lakes naval training station said there had been no gunfire from there, nor had there been any firing from warships or airplanes.

One of the shells penetrated the roof of the Farwell home, another went through the wall of a bedroom and two more entered through the basement.

CITIZENS WILL PATROL ROADS NEAR VILLAGE

Every Person Entering West-

FEAR ROBBER BANDS

Killing of Town Marshal
Leave Citizens of Town
Nervous

(By the Associated Press)
Westhope, N. D., Oct. 26.—Beginning tonight this city will inaugurate a system of protection against the possible invasion of robbers, with out posts stationed on every road one-half mile from the city, to halt all persons or vehicles attempting to enter the city after 9 p. m. and search them for guns or other burglarious weapons.

A representative meeting of citizens was held last evening and this program of protection was decided upon.

Westhope citizens have been nervous ever since Carl Peterson, night village marshal was murdered by a gang of robbers whom he attempted to intercept while they were burglarizing a hardware store.

Similar steps of protection were taken a year ago. Volunteer citizens will handle the patrol work on the roads leading into the city. They will be sworn in as peace officers and will work without charge.

Mayor Joseph Simon denied today that he had dispatched a message to the adjutant general at Bismarck, asking for a quantity of rifles to be used in protecting the city. He said, however, that the marshal probably was responsible for the sending of the telegram.

A telegram received at the Adjutant-General's office today asked that 20 rifles and 500 pounds of ammunition be sent to Westhope. The adjutant-general has no rifles in his possession.

FIND BODY IN SHALLOW GRAVE HOLD HUSBAND

Backs of Hands Torn Showing
He Had Struggle With Victim

(By the Associated Press)
Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 26.—Henry J. Burns was booked on a charge of murder here early today charged with the killing of his third wife, whose mutilated body was found in a shallow grave in the Woods of Mentor Marsh, seven miles west of Painesville, late yesterday afternoon.

Burns admits he was in the woods near the scene of the killing just before the body was found, according to police, and admits he saw his wife's bloodstained clothing scattered on the ground, but denies all knowledge of the crime.

The backs of his hands were torn as though a woman's finger nails had gouged him as he sought to fight him off, but he told police the wounds were sustained when he fell from a tree before the murder charge was placed against him he was confronted with a photograph of the body of his wife, Mrs. Hazel Burns, 29, taken as it lay in the morgue at Painesville.

The prisoner clasped his hands over his eyes, shrank back in his chair and cried out:

"My God, I wish I was where she is now."

Burns admitted his third wife, the victim of the murder, had accused him of paying attention to other women, police declare, and he confessed their marital life had been turbulent for the past few months.

During the morning Burns is to be taken to the scene of the crime and questioned there. Later he will be taken to the Lake County morgue, where the body of the slain woman is being held, and subjected to further questioning.

(By the Associated Press)
Doorn, Holland, Oct. 26.—It is reported that a plan is on foot to photograph from an aeroplane the wedding procession of former Emperor William and Princess Hermine of Reuss, as it proceeds from the chateau and through the grounds to the gate of the lodge.

Airmen consider that it will be a dangerous exploit because of the dense woods in the grounds. Nevertheless the aviators are reported to be determined to make the effort.

CAMPAIGN IN BRITAIN OPENS; ISSUES FIXED

Prime Minister Bonar Law
Says Country Needs
Rest and Peace

IS FOR LEAGUE

Will Support League of Nations, Irish Treaty and Good Will in Europe

Glasgow, Oct. 26.—Andrew Bonar Law, as leader of the Unionist party, in a manifesto issued this afternoon, declared one of the tasks of that party if it is returned to power, will be to make good the Anglo-Irish treaty both in letter and spirit and to cooperate with the Irish government. The manifesto declares it will be the government's earnest aim, if returned, to give wholehearted and practical support to the league of nations, to fulfill the obligations Great Britain has undertaken abroad but not to extend her commitments but preferably to curtail them, and to maintain friendship and good understanding with the United States.

Mr. Bonar Law in the manifesto said it was the Unionists party's purpose, of the self governing dominions approved, to summon an imperial conference in an effort to discover how the vast trade and resources of the empire made possible could best be developed by mutual cooperation.

MANY CANDIDATES
London, Oct. 26.—Oratory by aspirants for seats in the new parliament fills the land. Thirteen hundred candidates have entered the campaign for membership in the house of commons. Of these about 425 are Conservatives. In round numbers labor has 400 candidates in the field, the Aquilions or Free Liberals 300, and Lloyd George or National Liberals 200. The little Welshman who lost his post as prime minister last week is vigorously striving to increase the number of candidates under his banner.

To obtain an outright majority in the new parliament any one party would have to elect 315 candidates. The Conservatives and Laborites are the only two with enough candidates to obtain an independent majority. Their organizations have been whipped into far better shape than those of the other parties.

One of the main centers of interest in the whole election is Glasgow, where the new prime minister, Andrew Bonar Law, has two opponents in his campaign for reelection. Former Bailie Mitchell is his opponent on the Labor ticket, and Sir George Paish is opposing him as a Free Liberal.

Labor is making a very strong campaign among the larger population of Glasgow. At present only one of the fifteen constituencies in that city is represented by a Labor member, but the party has for a long while conducted earnest propaganda in the big industrial communities and it seems likely to fulfill its hope of gaining a larger representation.

One of the candidates in Glasgow is the Communist John MacLean, whose term of 12 months in prison for sedition expired yesterday.

LAYS DOWN POLICY

Glasgow, Oct. 26.—Prime Minister Andrew Law, Scotland Unionist association today:

"My strong belief is that nation needs, above everything else, rest and tranquility, and my policy will be to secure this in this sense."

The government's policy, said the Prime Minister, would be to leave the recovery from the war to the untrammelled initiative to the men and women of the country.

Prime Minister Bonar Law was unanimously adopted as the Conservative and Unionist candidate for parliament from the central division of Glasgow. A resolution of confidence in him was passed.

N. P. WILL BUY 3,000 NEW CARS

Minneapolis, Oct. 26.—Purchase of 3,000 freight cars is planned by the Northern Pacific railway, it was announced today. Bids have been asked for this addition to the freight equipment of the transcontinental system. It will be one of the largest freight car purchases in the North-west this year. The 3,000 cars will cost approximately $5,000,000. It also was reported that the Northern Pacific is arranging to purchase 30 heavy locomotives at a cost of approximately $3,000,000.

COUNTY AGENT PROPOSITION UP TO VOTERS

Will Have Opportunity to Say If County Will Cooperate With the A. C.

Voters of Burleigh county on November 7, will decide whether they wish to cooperate with the State Agricultural College and the U. S. department of agriculture in employing a county extension agent and maintaining cooperative agricultural extension work in the county.

The proposition will appear on a separate ballot at the election Nov. 7 in the form of "For" or "Against support of Cooperative Agricultural Extension work."

Burleigh county has had very little work along this line since two years ago, when the county agent, George Gustafson, resigned to take a similar position in Montana. "Extension work," as it appears on the ballots, includes not only the work of the county extension agents, but the activities of state agents of the North Dakota Extension division, who cooperate with the local agent in handling special situations, such as gopher and grasshopper epidemics, tuberculosis in cattle, control of cutworms, introduction of cost records on the farm, etc.

Special demonstration work for farm women, and Boys and Girls' club work are also included in extension work. The county agent arranges meetings of farm women at which talks and demonstrations are given by state agents in nursing, clothing, sanitation, food and other home problems.

How Cost is Met

The cost of this work to the county during a year is about $2,400, the balance of the expense, $1,200, being supplied to the county from the state and federal appropriations for this purpose. In North Dakota 36 counties now employ extension agents, and a total of 3,283 are employed in the United States. The total assessed valuation of Burleigh county property is $29,647,170. Dividing this figure into the cost of the work gives a result showing that for each $1,000 of property valuation, the owner would pay eight cents toward the support of county extension work. For the average quarter section which is assessed at $2,200, the cost would be less than 18 cents.

Projects on which the county extension agents are working include organization of cooperative marketing enterprises for such products as livestock, cream, seeds, potatoes and wool; distribution of farm labor; vaccinating cattle for blackleg; helping farmers secure federal seed loans; introducing alfalfa, sweet clover and other feed crops, securing rust resistant wheat.

LEO BECHTOLD CONVICTED OF GEM ROBBERY

Sioux Falls, S. D., Oct. 26.—Leo Bechtold, son of a prominent business man here, today was found guilty by a jury in circuit court of the charge of burglary in the third degree. Bechtold was charged with being implicated in the theft of nearly $60,000 worth of jewels from two trunks which were stored in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway passenger station on the night of September 15, the affair ending in the murder of Night Captain of Police E. J. Pike.

Lawrence Johnson, alias George Gotch, has been found guilty of the murder and two other men, Carroll Denbow and Frank Lage, have confessed their part in the burglary. Nearly all of the missing jewelry has been recovered. It is the property of a Chicago firm.

INSURANCE MAN NOT IMPOSTOR

An unfortunate misunderstanding upon the part of several people led some days ago to charges being made against C. J. Jewell of Fargo, an insurance man of fine reputation. Information from Mandan was printed in The Tribune to the effect that a warrant had been issued for an impostor who sold insurance to physicians in Mandan and Bismarck and did not deliver the policies. The Tribune is informed the facts are as follows: Mr. Jewell, a regularly licensed agent for the company he represented, took a physician's policy and forwarded it to the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association of Omaha, Neb., together with 18 other policies. His practice was to wait until he had several applications and sent them in at the same time. These policies were received by the company on October 11th, the same date they wrote a letter to a physician stating that his application had not been received, and advising that some man working under their name was an impostor. On that date they sent a telegram to Mr. Jewell acknowledging receipt of the 19 applications and congratulating him on his work. This telegram Mr. Jewell sent to the state attorney of Morton county.

The policies arrived in due course, and Mr. Jewell had them ready for delivery on the day he read the newspaper article, with reference to a warrant being issued for his arrest. Mr. Jewell, a prominent Fargo citizen, had been a resident of Fargo all of his life and is held there as a very reputable insurance man. As a result of a general misunderstanding he was being accused of being an impostor when as a matter of fact he was doing a mighty fine business for his company.

Prohibition Aids Grit in New Generation

Chicago, Oct. 21.—The grit of the average American man is gaining due to the greater amount of food and candy he consumes in the absence of alcoholic beverages, according to conclusions drawn from a survey of health in the United States, made public today by the National Life Insurance company.

"Men who used to treat guests, friends and customers at bars, now entertain them at meals, buying food, pastries and sweets and other items that produce obesity," said a statement. "The result is that while prohibition has been beneficial in thrift, home-building and peacefulness, it materially has helped fast to become an enemy to human longevity."

"Because the heart is directly affected by fat, the survey shows an increasing mortality from disease of this organ. Except in the rarest instance persons who live to ripe old ages are thin. Fat usually taken as proof of good health is in reality a sign of short life."

"Exercise too often is taken too violently, and merely results in increased appetites and enlarged consumption of food, offsetting the good results of athletics. Exercise to hold down obesity should be regular, not too strenuous and methodically pursued."

BOLT REMOVAL CAUSED WRECK

Williston, N. D., Oct. 25.—Removal of a bolt from the switch "by persons unknown" caused the wreck of a Great Northern freight at Todd siding near here Oct. 19, which resulted in the death of John Hoffmann, engineer, and C. G. Halloway, brakeman, a coroner's jury, comprised of Coroner E. C. Stratton and three citizens, last night found after four days investigation.

The jury's finding confirms previous statements of unofficial investigators who asserted that a bolt connecting the switch and the track was missing.

The verdict renews interest in the burning of a small railroad bridge near Todd the evening of Oct. 4, which delayed rail traffic about 12 hours. So far is known here, the origin of the fire is unaccounted for, except on theory that it was of incendiary origin.

MOHALL MAN BURIED WIFE UNDER STRAW

Mohall, N. D., Oct. 25.—In Mohall yesterday, and about the country-side, they are talking vaguely of an investigation.

Alone on his farm, a few miles from the village, stumbling, apparently, about his chores is John Tommassen, 67 years old, the object of the town's attention.

A week ago Sunday something snapped in the brain of John Tommassen, and ended the conscious struggle against poverty and prairie loneliness which for 20 years he and his wife had fought together. It came when his wife refused to wake to another day of the same drab humdrum that had been her lot for more than a score of years.

"She wouldn't follow me to church," were John Tommassen's words in the village that morning when they asked the whereabouts of his wife.

Neighbors called to solve the meaning of his words. They found Mrs. Tommassen lying dead in her bed.

They asked when he wanted the funeral. He only shook his head. The neighbors left to return again next day. The body of the woman was gone. The sheriff and the coroner were called. They showed the badges of their office and Tommassen led them to a shallow grave hidden by scattered straw.

Blue Nose Leads Henry Ford Craft

(By the Associated Press)
Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 26.—The Canadian Blue Nose led the Henry Ford by 27 seconds when the schooner started the third and deciding race today for the champion of the Atlantic fishing fleet. Each boat has one official race to her credit.

The 40-mile course selected was the same as that sailed yesterday. The Blue Nose had a lead of one minute and six seconds at the first mark.

When they raced nearly thirty-five miles the Ford broke her foretopmast off half way up and the jib topmast fluttered into a water alongside. The disablement of the Ford apparently settled the race for the Blue Nose was a half mile ahead.

Natives of Poland now living in the United States number 3,500,000.

The following is a part of an Editorial in the North Dakota Leader.
Official North Dakota Newspaper Of The Non Partisan League Dated Fargo, N. D., Saturday, Oct. 21, 1922.
"The I. V. A. Candidates, headed by Gov. Nestos, say that things are all right as they are now. They say people can make enough money if they work hard enough and save their money. They do not believe that people should have an equal chance, and that working people should be satisfied if they have enough food to keep them from starving and enough clothing to keep them from freezing."
Read the above once. Read it twice. Read it three times. Then think it over. Did you ever read a meaner, lower untruth? A dirtier piece of political propaganda. A lower attempt to stir up class hatred.
Why was the Editorial written?
To get votes for Frazier and Lemke.

PARTY LINES BROKEN

Perhaps the most remarkable feature of the political campaigns in the country this fall is the rude manner in which party lines are being broken and party traditions smashed. The situation in North Dakota, where Republican and Democrats alike are found in the same political camp, is nothing new, though the fight on United States Senator has accentuated the break in this state. It is, however, a very unusual situation in Iowa, in Oklahoma, in other states. While the Republican National Committee is supporting Brookhart, the Republican candidate in Iowa, there is a large and powerful group of Republicans fighting him and pledging support to the Democratic candidate.

The political mind in North Dakota has been in a turbulent state for many years. The depression in agricultural prices, unemployment, labor troubles and a score of other reasons have disturbed the political mind in other states this year. There has been an eruption of radicalism, and with grim determination voters have flocked to the polls to vote for candidates known as extremists, not because they offer constructive remedies but in a mighty, blind protest.

Is it the beginning of a new day in politics, the beginning of the end of established parties? There has always been the voter who says he casts his ballot for the man and not for the party. But there also are now men of vision who declare that a new, fundamental division has been drawn with radicalism on the one side and all that is opposed to radicalism on the other.

No less a stalwart party man and leader in political affairs than Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, has declared the time has come "to move toward higher ground." He advocates formation of a Democrat-Republican party which "would represent the predominant liberalism of our people." Coalescence of the two old parties, he states, would lead to the organization of a distinctly radical party, thus bringing about "an honest and sincere division of political forces in this country."

Theodore Roosevelt led the greatest political revolt in history but failed to form a permanent third party. There are many deep thinkers who see in the present situation the beginning of a new alignment of political forces in the country.

FORTUNE TELLER

The New York Stock Exchange will soon bring out a stock ticker running about a fifth faster than the model that now brings the sad news to the gentlemen who spend their days in chairs before the blackboards in brokerage offices and bucket-shops.

It seems that the sad news doesn't come fast enough. On a busy day the ticker sometimes runs a quarter of an hour or more behind prices on the floor of the stock exchange.

Since the market can do a lot of shifting in 15 minutes, plungers will welcome a faster-paced ticker. It brings them closer to the battlefield where their dollars are fighting heavy odds.

The stock ticker was invented by a preacher, Dr. Samuel S. Laws, back in Civil War days.

A Gold Exchange had been established in New York to adjust the price of gold at regular intervals, thus letting bankers and other business men know what their paper money was worth on a gold basis.

A board of trustees met each morning, to adjust the price of gold. As they emerged from conference, hundreds of messenger boys pounced on them, eager to rush the gold price to bankers, brokers and merchants. The trustees, by the time the messengers got through mobbing them, sometimes had to buy new clothes.

So they jumped at the chance when Preacher Laws showed them sketches for the first electrical ticker machine. Young Thomas A. Edison had charge of the telegraphing service.

The first stock tickers, of course, were crude compared with the machines in glass cages that spit out quotation-ribbon today.

More than 7000 tape tickers are now in use, four-fifths of them recording the price waves of stocks and bonds.

Of all machines invented by man, the stock ticker is easily the most interesting. Daily it regulates the emotions of hundreds of thousands of people.

What a story it could tell, if it could talk! In the main, the story would be tragic—blasted hopes, exploded dreams, thefts, prison terms, lost fortunes and suicides. The brighter side—the story of lucky strikes—is the flame that lures the moths.

SMOKING

Dr. Knight Dunlap and other noted medical men at Johns Hopkins University, after three years of research, report that the immediate effect of smoking tobacco is "a lowering of the accuracy of finely co-ordinated reaction, but that there is no indication that the speed of complicated reactions is affected."

This makes it look as if tobacco has more effect on the dictionary than on smokers. It means that smoking apparently does not lower the efficiency of a routine worker, but is apt to befuddle men engaged in intellectual work.

BOTULISM

Scientists discover that heat destroy the germs of the dread food poisoning known as botulism. Canners will prevent any danger of botulism by heating food, before it goes into cans, "for the time and degree of heat that has been scientifically determined."

Not as important as it looks, however, for botulism kills only 25 Americans a year, possibly not as many as choke to death by swallowing their false teeth.

The important angle, worth remembering, is that heat kills all germs.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

MR. BRYAN IN MINNESOTA

William Jennings Bryan created quite a surface stir in his political swing through Minnesota in behalf of the candidacy of Mrs. Anna Dickie Olsen and other Democrats.

In his day of spell-binding the Nebraska leaped nimbly from subject to subject. He hit direct or glancing blows at a wide range of things with the purpose of discrediting the work of the Republican party in the nation and in the state.

Strangely enough, in this field day, if press reports thereof are correct and adequate, Mr. Bryan hadn't a word to say about the prohibition question except to remark at Farmington that it is not an issue in Minnesota.

It is Mr. Bryan's privilege, of course, to be articulate or to be silent on any given topic, but his listeners scarcely can help remembering that he has been frankly and loudly articulate on prohibition for years before and since the Eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act came into operation. It must seem odd to them that Mr. Bryan considers the debate on prohibition in Minnesota closed.

Obviously the national "wet" organization, known as the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and having headquarters in Washington, does not think the issue is dead or the debate closed in this state. On the very day Mr. Bryan was busy talking to thousands in the southern part of the state this wet organization was sending forth statements endorsing the congressional candidates of J. R. Coak, J. F. Linn and P. J. Seiberger. Democratic candidates in the Fifth, First and Sixth districts, against Walter H. Newton, Sydney Anderson and Harold Knutson, respectively. The one Republican representative in Congress from Minnesota whom the "wets" endorsed is Charles E. Davis of the Third district.

Rum-running across the border and the activities of "bootleggers" throughout the state, as indicated by arrests and court proceedings, suggest that prohibition enforcement is a rather live issue in Minnesota. And these endorsements from Washington suggest that the prohibition principle as embodied in the Volstead act is construed by the indorsees as a live issue in Minnesota. Moreover, the Anti-Saloon league, which Mr. Bryan never has seen fit to condemn as a dangerous factor in American politics, appears to believe the war on prohibition is not over in Minnesota.

Mr. Bryan, however, is a gallant, gentleman, and perhaps he acts on a chivalric theory that he should not go further on the prohibition question than Mrs. Olsen has seen fit to go in this campaign, and Mrs. Olsen has elected to put the emphasis of her message on other topics. This campaign policy, or perhaps it is strategy, is not in tune with sentiments expressed by Mrs. Olsen in the Democratic national convention in San Francisco two years ago.

On such a subject, however, is Mr. Bryan, not Mrs. Olsen. That being the case, it is fair to ask Mr. Bryan if he would prefer to have Mr. Volstead, chairman of the House Judiciary committee and pilot of the prohibition enforcement act returned to Congress, or whether he thinks it would be better and safer to elect from the Seventh district another man, not an out-and-out Democrat, and thereby make it possible that the chairmanship of the important Judiciary committee would go to a third man with prohibition ideas at variance with those of Mr. Volstead and the friends of the existing enforcement law. Prohibition is an issue in the Seventh district, made so by the activities of the "wet" opponents of Mr. Volstead. This fact scarcely can have escaped the attention of Mr. Bryan.—Minneapolis Tribune.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

The next place the Twins came to was the house of Jack Horner. Jack was sitting at his front door.

"Hello!" said he, when he saw the Twins.

"Hello," said Nancy and Nick. "We are hunting for Mother Goose's magic broomstick. Do you know where it is?"

"No," answered Jack. "I don't like brooms. I only like raisin pie and plum cake and fruit pudding. Would you like to have some?"

"Yes," said Nick, "but we'll have to hurry now and we can't stay. We thought you might have the broom to sweep up your crumbs."

"Well, as to that," replied Jack, "I never make any, for I eat all mine. But you might ask Tom Tucker."

The Twins thanked him and the Jacks shook their heads off to Tom's house.

"Any broom here?" asked Nancy, sticking in her head. "Mother Goose has lost her's and we're after it. The crumbs are getting so thick in the sky the sun can scarcely shine through."

"I'm not an old woman," growled Tommy with his mouth full. "What I want with brooms? Go and ask Dame Trot or old Mother Hubbard or the Old Woman Who Lives in a Shoe. Maybe they've got it."

"I don't think so," said Nancy. "Dame Trot's cat would lick up her crumbs. Mother Hubbard and the friends of the existing enforcement law. Prohibition is an issue in the Seventh district, made so by the activities of the 'wet' opponents of Mr. Volstead. This fact scarcely can have escaped the attention of Mr. Bryan.—Minneapolis Tribune.

ELECTION DAY PROSPECTS

Frederick W. Upham of Chicago, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, tells Mr. Harding that a month ago the voters were disposed to criticize President and Congress, but today are disposed to approval. The Democrats have failed to make an issue, Mr. Upham added.

The change in sentiment has been decided and seems to assure Republican victory west of Ohio, one would surmise. In Ohio and eastward, on the contrary, the situation seems rather parlous, not so much on national as on local issues, however. In New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts there are bitter fights on with defections and feuds galore. In Pennsylvania no one knows whether the Republican Old Guard organization is going to support Gifford Pinchot or knife him at the polls. In Ohio there are so many mixed up tendencies that nobody has any idea of the upshot. In New Jersey the dominating issue is between wet and dry. In New York a Governor and a former Governor are having a cat-and-dog time of it.

A short while ago anyone who said that the Republican Administration and Congress would be stronger in the Middle West than in the East would have been ill-considered as political observer. Yet such seems now to be the case.

Prospect of Mr. Beveridge's election to the Senate in Indiana is very good. The whole country will have cause for congratulations in case Mr. Beveridge wins. The Senate will receive an intellectual reinforcement such as it needs. And Senator La Follette will be confronted by a colleague, whose progressive record cannot be impeached, whose sanity is not in question. Mr. Beveridge is advanced enough, but he isn't socialist.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE

"While Satan Sleeps," the feature at the Eltinge for Friday and Saturday is one of the new Paramount pictures which the critics have called one of the best. The story was written by Peter B. Kyne and called "The Parson of Panamint." When the picture was played in Los Angeles recently, the examiner said: "The Kyne story at a local theatre is extra good. 'While Satan Sleeps' is the best picture displayed here for many weeks." Jack Hoot has the leading part.

CAPITOL

The cast of the Irving Cummings picture, "Man From Hell's River," which is to be seen at the Capitol Theatre tomorrow contains what is considered the peer of all screen villains, namely Wallace Beery. This sterling actor of character roles has built up a lasting popularity through his ruffianly record in the annals of the silver screen. His bad man, "Quint" Gaspard, the human wolf, eclipses his other etchings of the screen. His portrayal is guaranteed enough that there will be more shivers per inch of film in "Man From Hell's River" than any other picture which has been produced recently. Wallace Beery has doubtless committed every conceivable kind of misdeed under the sun—that is, in the realms of shadowland. His villain in this picture is so black that he makes one look like snow. Outside of his make-up, however, he is one of the most gentlemanly and mild-mannered men in the world. Which is a tribute to his skill as an actor. If an actor is chosen to lend vigor and vitality to a bad man Wallace Beery is invariably selected to play the part.

Besides, he can be depended upon, as a disciple of John Marshall, to support the Supreme Court impudently.—Minneapolis Journal.

The FLAMING JEWEL

by ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

© 1922 GEORGE H. DORAN COMPANY

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The savage battle for possession of the flaming jewel had reached a tense point in the hunting camp of the Adirondacks where MIKE CLINCH has hoarded the gem as the sole means of giving his beautiful step-daughter, EVE STRAYER, the education of a lady.

This priceless gem was first stolen from the refugee COUNTESS OF ESTHONIA by the great international thief, QUINTANA. Clinch stole the jewel from Quintana and now Quintana has returned and stops at nothing to win back the gem.

For love of the countess, JAMES DARRAGH, under the name of HAL SMITH, is trying to get the jewel. Fighting alongside of Clinch's men against Quintana, Smith, dressed as the gangster Salazar, dashes into the camp and takes the jewel packet from Quintana, who has just grabbed it from Eve. He rides away, and Eve, with her lover, TROOPER STORMONT, escape from Quintana by swimming the lake. Then Eve shows she has held the jewel in her mouth. She believed she had given Quintana an empty case.

EPISODE EIGHT
Cup and Lip
CHAPTER I

Two miles beyond Clinch's Dump, Hal Smith pulled Stormont's horse to a walk. He was tremendously excited.

With naive sincerity he believed that what he had done on the spur of the moment had been the only thing to do.

By snatching the flaming jewel from Quintana's very fingers he had diverted that vindictive bandit's fury from Eve, from Clinch, from Stormont, and had centered it about himself.

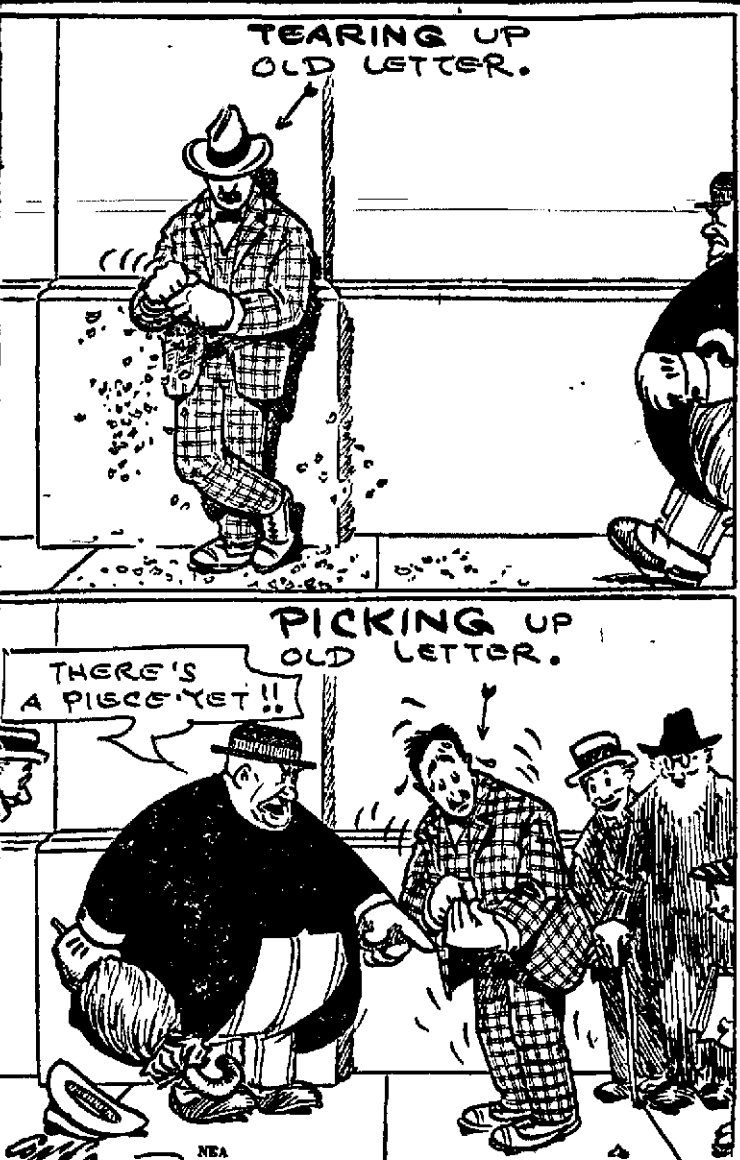

More than that, he had sown the seeds of suspicion among Quintana's own people. They never could discover Salazar's body. Always they must believe that it was Nicolas Salazar and no other who so treacherously robbed them, and who rode away in a rain of bullets, shaking the emblazoned morocco case above his masked head in triumph, defiance and defiance.

At the recollection of what had happened, Hal Smith drew bridle, and, sitting his saddle there in the false dawn, threw back his hands some head and laughed until the fading stars overhead swam in his eyes through tears of sheerest mirth.

Smith sat in his saddle, thinking, beginning to be sobered now by the inevitable reaction which follows excitement and mirth as relentlessly as care dogs the horseman.

He thought of Riga; and of the Red Terror; of murder at noon-day, and outrage by night. He remembered his only encounter with a lovely child—once Grand Duchess of Esthonia—then a destitute refugee in silken rags.

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

What a day that had been. . . . Only day and one evening. . . . And never had he been so near in love in all his life.

As the false dawn began to fade, he loosened hunting coat and cartridge sling, drew from his shirt-bosom the morocco case.

It bore the arms and crest of the Grand Duchess Theodorica of Esthonia.

His fingers trembled slightly as he pressed the jeweled spring. It opened on an empty casket.

In the sudden shock of horror and astonishment, his convulsive clutch on the spring started a tiny bell ringing. Then, under his very nose, the empty tray slid aside revealing another tray underneath, set solidly with brilliants. A rainbow of glitter streamed from the unset gems in the silken tray. Like an incredulous child he touched them. They were magnificently real.

In the center lay the great Erosite gem—the flaming jewel itself. Priceless diamonds, sapphires, emeralds ringed it. In his hands he held nearly four millions of dollars.

Gingerly he balanced the emblazoned case, fascinated. Then he replaced the empty tray, closed the box, thrust it into the bosom of his flannel shirt and buttoned it in.

Now there was little room for this excited young man to do. He was through with Clinch. Hal Smith, hood-up man and dish-washer at Clinch's Dump, had ended his career. The time had now arrived for him to vanish and make room for James Darragh.

For by this time the Grand Duchess of Esthonia—Ricca, as she was called by her companion, Valentine, the pretty Countess Orloff-Strelwitz—must have arrived in New York.

He lifted the bridle from the horses' neck, divided curb and snaffle thoughtfully, touched the splendid animal with heel and toe.

As he cantered on into the wide forest road that led to his late uncle's abode, curiosity led him to wheel into a narrower trail running east along Star Pond, and from whence he could take a farewell view of Clinch's Dump.

Alders still concealed the house across the lake, but the trail was already coming out to the starlight.

Suddenly his horse stopped short, trembling, its ears pricked forward. Darragh sat listlessly intently for a moment. Then with infinite caution, he leaned over the cantle and gently parted the alders.

On the pebbled beach, full in the starlight, stood two figures, one white and slim, the other dark and stout. The arm of the dark figure clasped the waist of the white and slender one.

"Eve! Jack Stormont! What the devil are you doing over here?" Stormont walked slowly up to his own horse, laid one unsteady hand on its silky nose, kept it there while dusty, velvet lips nuzzled and caressed his fingers.

"I knew it was a cavalierman," he said quietly. "I suspected you, Jim. It was the sort of crazy thing you were likely to do. . . . I don't ask you what you're up to, where you've been, what your plans may be. If you needed me you'd have told me."

"But I've got to have my horse for Eve. Her feet are wounded. She's in her night-dress and wringing wet. I've got to set her on my horse and try to take her through to Ghost Lake."

Darragh stared at Stormont, at the ghostly figure of the girl who had sunk down on the sand at the lake's edge. Then he scrambled out of the saddle and handed over the bridle.

"Jack, your tunic breeches are soaked; I'll be glad to chip in something for Eve. . . . Wait a moment."

He stepped into cover, drew the morocco box from his gray shirt, shoved it into his hip pocket.

Then he threw off his cartridge belt and hunting coat, pulled the gray shirt over his head and came out in his undershirt and breeches, with the other garments hanging over his arm.

"Give her these," he said. "She can button the coat around her waist for a skirt. She's better off somewhere and get out of that soaking wet night-dress."

Eve, crouched on the sand, trying to wring out, and twist up her drenched hair, looked up a Stormont as he came toward her holding out Darragh's dry clothing.

"You'd better do what you can with these," he said, trying to speak carelessly. "He says you'd better chuck—what you're wearing."

She nodded in flushed comprehension. Stormont walked back to his horse, his boots slopping water at every stride.

"I don't know any place nearer than Ghost Lake Inn," he said. "except Harrods."

"That's where we're going, Jack," said Darragh cheerfully.

"That's your place, isn't it?"

"It is. But I don't want Eve to know it. I think it better she should not know me except as Hal Smith—for the present, anyway. You'll see to that, won't you?"

"I don't understand, but—it's all right—whatever you say, Jim."

"I'll tell you the whole business some day. But where I'm going to take you now is into a brand new camp which I ordered built last spring. It's within a mile of the State Forest Border. Eve won't know that Harrods property. I've a hatchery there and the State lets me have a man in exchange for free fry. When I get there I'll post my man. . . . It will be a good for tonight. . . . anywhere and breakfast in the morning, whenever you're ready."

"That's the thing to do, then," said Stormont bluntly.

He dropped one sopping-wet sleeve over his horse's neck, taking care not to touch the saddle. He was thinking of the handful of gems in his pocket; and he wondered why Darragh had said nothing about the empty case for which he had so recklessly risked his life.

What this whole business was about, Stormont had no notion. But he knew Darragh. That was sufficient to leave him tranquil, and perfectly certain that whatever Darragh was doing must be the right thing to do.

MRS. HATFIELD SABINA, OHIO

In Pitiable Condition when she Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sabina, Ohio.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and irregularity. I was weak and nervous and could hardly stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal. I was this way for about a year and had tried several medicines and had a physician, but to no avail. My sister was taking your medicine and finally induced me to try it. I now feel fine and can go to my housework without any trouble at all. You can use this letter for the sake of others if you wish."—MRS. WELDON G. HATFIELD, R. R. 3, Sabina, Ohio.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so weak and nervous that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken when you first notice such symptoms as nervousness, backache, weakness and irregularity. It will help you and prevent more serious trouble. Give it a fair trial. It surely helped Mrs. Hatfield, just as it has many other women.

Foot Trouble A Result of Neglected Feet

Mr. F. W. Snyder of the A. W. Lusas Store, who just recently graduated from the American School of Practicedics, of Chicago, says that foot troubles are a result of neglected feet and that physicians claim that nine out of every ten persons have some form of foot trouble.

He says that hard pavements and other present-day conditions cause the bones forming the arches of the feet to sag down, producing callouses, corns, tiredness, burning sensations and other discomforts. It has been proven that when these bones are properly supported by the correct fitting of shoes and the use of Foot Appliances they gradually resume their normal position and function in a way that gives not only comfortable feet, but maintains the most stylish appearance of the shoe.

Mr. Snyder states that it is his ambition to drive foot discomfort from this community and now is the time for everybody to be good to their feet.

Big Program Is Planned at Patterson Hall Tonight

The boxer and wrestler, who will go in the big athletic show to be staged in Patterson hall tonight at 9:30 o'clock were on edge today. ## Real "Grid" Stars Like To Play The Game

BY AUBREY DEVINE.

All-American 1921, Captain Iowa 1921, "Big Ten" Champions.

A genuine liking for football is a most necessary quality if a player hopes to be a star.

True, some football players reach stardom who are not crazy about the strenuous game. Unusual natural ability makes it possible. However, such players would be of far greater value to their team if they really liked the sport.

With the liking for the game goes the determination or will to do. Some will call it nerve, others will use the trite vulgar yet very appropriate word, "guts."

Must Like the Game.

Success in college football rests upon the same broad foundation as does success in any other line of endeavor. If a man does not enjoy playing football for its own sake and is not possessed of the will power to perfect himself in the game to the very limit of his capacity to do so, he can no more expect to reap the rewards of a successful football career than he could expect to be successful in any other line of work in which he might engage in a half-hearted manner. In other words, he must be willing to pay the price.

Finally, to sum it all up in answer to the question, "Why high school stars do not make good in college," we may say that some never were stars, while other real stars lose their athletic ability before they get to college, either because they were "burned out" in high school by too much work, or because they are just naturally athletic in their teens and "old" men in their twenties.

Girls and Dates.

All other high school stars fail in college because the diversified life of college causes them to scatter their attention and energies upon so many and varied interests.

Not the least of these varied interests are girls and "dates." As a result the classroom and the football field are equally neglected, and the erstwhile high school star becomes a mediocre man on the last string of the squad.

In brief, granting that the high school star has the potentialities requisite for him to make the varsity, he must devote his undivided attention to a two-part curriculum of studies and football, at least during the football season, if he would continue his high school success in football on through his college career.

SPORT BRIEFS

Buenos Aires.—The City Council revoked the special permission granted Luis Firpo, South American heavyweight, to stage boxing exhibitions in the city.

Paris.—Georges Carpentier was informed that he would have to get on line and wait his turn for another match with Battling Siki.

Chicago.—Failure of Arnold Stat-outfielder of the Chicago Nationals to hit .300 saved his club $10,000. The Cubs had agreed to pay the Los Angeles club that amount if Stat hit .300 for the season. His average was .297.

Gold Payments For Exports Will Save German Mark

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Payment in gold for German exports is the only thing that will prevent a total collapse of the German mark and is the only cure for Europe's ills, according to George R. Meyer, chairman of the foreign relations committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

Mr. Meyer expects to take up the matter of gold payments with the American committee of the International Chamber of Commerce. "Any buyer in America or England can go to a bank and obtain gold, the actual physical metal," he said, "and deliver that in exchange for certain merchandise brought in Germany."

GREETING CALLERS WITH A SHOTGUN JUST BAKER'S WAY

BAKER

By Roy Grove
It's kinda hard on a guy when he walks into a ball player's hotel room for an interview and finds him sitting there with a 12-gauge shotgun in his hands pointing your way.

A fellow just don't know how to begin.

But that's the way I found Frank Baker of the Yanks, and it was a relief to know it was just his hobby he was working on, and not a general form of greeting.

Frank's a shooter on the farm when he's not balling on the diamond. He's got all the works.

Select and Classifies
He's even got three farms outside of Trappe, Md., where he can sort of select and classify his game into ducks, rabbits and fishing, if he cares to do so.

Every year after the season closes there is a dark cloud of smoke over the Baker reservation. That's when Eddie Collins, Shawkey and Frank get together for a booze bellow.

Outside of his general hobby of shooting his secondary hobby is reading about shooting and everything relative to it. His hotel room is littered with folders, circulars and illustrated advertising of every sort from gunneries all over the earth.

Day and Night
These things he peruses during the fireless hours and bulges his pockets with through the day.

"That's about all there is to it," says Baker, "shoot in season and farm in season. I do most of my motoring on a tractor. That's the best way to tour if you want to see the country."

"Well, so long, if you want anybody shot just drop me a line."

PAFFMAN LOOKS BEST OF HARVARD PUNTERS

CARL PAFFMAN

Kicking, as usual, will play a prominent part on the gridiron during the 1922 season.

As a matter of fact the kicking end of the game becomes all the more important because of the new scrimmage rule after a touchdown.

All college football coaches are specializing in kicking with special stress being placed on drop kicking and goals from placement.

At Harvard, Coach Bill Fisher is banking strongly on one of his star back field men, Paffman, to look after the Crimson's punting. So far he is doing a mighty good job of it.

NO KU KLUX KLAN IN HAWAII ISLAND

Manila, Oct. 26.—Labor Commissioner Francisco Verona denies the existence of a Filipino Ku Klux Klan in Hawaii, as has been reported.

"During my stay in Hawaii last year," he explained today, "I encouraged the establishment of fraternal societies among the Filipinos for the purpose of bringing up their standard of living and for mutual protection. The Filipinos there with few exceptions are peaceful, law abiding, hard working. I was therefore surprised to read that the Filipinos in the Ku Klux Klan were terrorizing its countrymen and that this so-called organization was being investigated by the prosecuting attorney."

"Perhaps the prosecutor mistook the K. K. K. dimasalang, a purely Filipino organization and established in Tagalog provinces in the Philippines, as a protective society. This means in the Tagalog language 'kataastasan' (the high-gang) katipunang 'dimasalang' which translated means 'highest, most respectable society of Dimasalang.'"

The simple duty that awaits thy hand

Is God's voice uttering a divine command;

Life's common deeds build all that saints have thought.

News of the Markets

NEWS OF WALL STREET

(By the Associated Press)
New York, Oct. 26.—Continuation of yesterday's professional selling of industrial stocks took place at the opening of today's stock market and imparted a decidedly reactionary tone to most of the list, declines in active issues of oil, steel and equipment ranging from 1/4 to 3/4 points. Bulls offered better resistance to selling pressure. The slump in oil stocks was topped by Mexican Petroleum which dropped 3/4 points, while Standard Oil of California and New Jersey and the Pan American issues yielded 1 to 1 1/2. Other weak spots were Standard Oil, Baldwin, General Electric, Consolidated Gas, American Locomotive and Coen Cal, the declines ranging from 1 1/2 to 2 points. Profuse offerings increased at the morning progressed with the result that the early losses of active issues were materially extended. Marking up of New York Central to 101 caused a slight rebound but the higher level produced fresh offerings and prices again tended downward.
Call money opened at 4 1/2 percent. Hasty unloading of stocks bought for the long account continued and the supply pressing on the market was largely augmented by extensive short selling. A further drop in the new government 4 1/2 percent bonds to 90.38 intensified the feeling of dejection among the bulls. High priced shares as usual suffered the most extensive losses.
The closing was weak. Further liquidation by disappointed investors encouraged more short selling in the final hour with the result that prices crumbled throughout the day. Mexican Petroleum dropped 1 1/2 points. Allis-Chalmers 3/4. Standard Oil of New Jersey and Kelsey Wheel 4 each and a number of other active issues from 1 to 3 1/2.
Absence of public interest, higher money rates, and further depreciation of foreign exchange and United States government bonds, particularly the new 4 1/2's induced further extensive liquidation and short selling in today's stock market. Prices of active shares sagged one to four points. Sales approximated 1-100,000 shares.

MAYOR ISSUES APPEAL FOR FLOWER SALE

Sets Aside November 4th as Forget-Me-Not Day in Bismarck for Disabled Vets

PLANS ARE COMPLETED

Mayor A. P. Lenhart today issued a proclamation asking support for "Forget-Me-Not Day" to be November 4 over the entire country and to be observed in Bismarck with the sale of flowers by the local chapter of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, for the benefit of disabled veterans. Because the Bismarck chapter represents the entire section, part of the state the flower sale will be held in many cities and towns. Mrs. Robert Orr will be general chairman of the sale in the district. Mrs. R. A. Tracy will be chairman of the Bismarck committee; J. L. Bell treasurer, and Myron H. Atkinson, secretary.

The proclamation of Mayor Lenhart follows:

"Two years ago delegates coming from every part of the United States met in Detroit, Mich., and organized the Disabled American Veterans of the World War. This is a national organization by and for all wounded, injured or disabled men and women who served in the World War. It succeeded from the first in meeting a real need and chapters were organized throughout America. The local chapters are based upon the spirit of fellowship, comradeship, mutual aid and co-operation. Because of the aid rendered for the disabled men of the nation regardless of their membership in the association the expenses have exceeded the amount paid by members in dues and it was found necessary to appeal to the American Public for assistance.

"On December 17th last, the first appeal for outside help made through the national association, 'Forget-Me-Not Day' and as result of the appeal a modest sum was raised to assist in helping the disabled men and women of the nation.

"Therefore, I hereby designate and set aside Nov. 4th, 1922, as Forget-Me-Not Day and ask all former war workers, members of the women's auxiliaries and ladies clubs, Red Cross workers, men's clubs and lodges, school principals and teachers and other representative men and women of the community to assist in the distribution and sale of Forget-Me-Not.

"I wish to impress upon every one the necessity for a generous cash contribution and the fact that a hearty co-operation in this movement will enable the Disabled American Veterans to more quickly re-establish themselves in the world.

"Given under my hand and seal this 26th day of October.

A. P. LENHART,
President City Commission.

The Disabled American Veterans Bureau has over 100,000 of the wounded in the war on its rolls and also is functioning to aid the remaining 150,000, all of whom are to be benefited by the activities of Nov. 4.

PEDDLER WITH $8,000 AUTO WAS DAKOTAN?

New York, Oct. 26.—On the promise to leave the city, sentence was suspended today on Frederick Hammill, a legless peddler and owner of an $8,000 automobile, who was arrested last Saturday on Sixth avenue on a charge of disorderly conduct by a detective, who said he saw about 75 persons give money to Hammill. Probation officers told the court that Hammill was born in North Dakota 46 years ago, cripple from birth; and that he was self-educated and once had a modest fortune which he lost on a ranch in his home state.

Later he went to live on a farm in Waltham, Mass., where he still has a residence.

PRINCE ANDREW CHARGED WITH GREEK DEFEAT

Brother of King Arrested, Held Responsible in Part For Disaster

(By the Associated Press)
Athens, Oct. 26.—The newspapers announce that Prince Andrew, brother of former King Constantine was arrested yesterday at Corfu, on the charge that he contributed to the disaster suffered by the Greek army in Asia Minor. He will be brought to Athens on a destroyer and interned in the palace.

General Strategos was arrested yesterday following the publication of the revolutionary committee's decree establishing a tribunal to try political and military prisoners in connection with the defeat of the Greek forces in Asia Minor. At the same time three civil leaders were arrested, George P. Baltazis, former foreign minister; M. Stais, once minister of the interior, and M. Bozizis, former governor of Thrace.

Prince Andrew commanded one of the corps of the Greek army on the Smyrna front. After the disaster to the Greek forces on that front he came to Corfu. On Wednesday an Athens message stated that an investigator had been sent to Corfu by the commission in charge of the inquiry into the Greek debacle to question Prince Andrew regarding the charges that while he was at the head of his army corps he refused to execute an order, thus contributing to the disaster.

JOINT DEBATE AT MOFFIT IS BIG MEETING

Seaman Smith, D. C. Poindexter, F. E. McCurdy and Gordon Cox Appear

OTHER MEETINGS HELD

A joint debate scheduled for Moffit last night proved to be a rousing meeting, with about 200 people out. Seaman Smith and D. C. Poindexter appeared as league speakers and F. E. McCurdy and Gordon Cox appeared for the Independents.

Mr. Cox spoke first followed by Mr. Poindexter; then Mr. McCurdy and last Seaman Smith. Mr. Cox, an expert on tax matters devoted his time principally to such matters. Mr. Poindexter replied. Smith followed Mr. Poindexter. Mr. McCurdy followed next and handled the general issues of the campaign. The meeting was closed by Seaman Smith.

Moffit and vicinity turned out in full force and there were between 150 and 200 in attendance.

George Keniston and F. E. Diehl spoke to a full house in Pleasant View Township last night. Mr. Diehl again went over the big losses in the Homebuilders and attached the blame to Messrs. Frazier and Lemke. After the meeting the people remained for a long time examining the official exhibits, reports and figures which Mr. Diehl allowed them to go over. Mr. Diehl contended that men who bungled the business of the state as Frazier and Lemke did are not entitled to further confidence of the people.

Mr. Keniston urged the necessity of supporting the regular nominees, Heaton, Anderson and Harrington for the legislature and Nuesse, Johnson and Birdzell for the Supreme Court.

Coffee and sandwiches were served in the schoolhouse in Silley Butte Township after Messrs. Harrington, Anderson and Heaton finished their talks to a fine audience. All the audience remained and partook of the refreshments and made use of the time to become acquainted with the regular candidates for the legislature.

A rousing meeting in the Hall at Sterling last night was addressed by Hon. E. T. Burke and Hon. E. J. Taylor. The speakers went over the lack of efficiency and extravagance of the Frazier-Lemke administration. They praised O'Connor for his ability and Americanism. Mr. Nestos was complimented for the manner in which he has conducted his office, especially as to the application of business methods which result in economy. They also praised the present Administration for the success in selling bonds at a premium, making farm loans in greater amount than the old administration and the opening of the mill at Grand Forks on October 30.

The Mind's Eye

Imagination is the eye of the mind, the power that calls up pictures of things not yet present, ideas not yet realized. Imagination precedes and is the cause of all achievement. First, the picture in the mind; then the realization.

So it is with that comfortable home you have always said you would have some day. Paint the picture strong enough in the mind's eye, then make your plans.

The future holds promise only for those who have a definite plan in their personal finances. Spending what you earn is living from hand to mouth. It is treading a vicious circle. Sickness or unemployment to the unprepared are calamities.

Saving systematically, however little it may be, means progress and means strength to resist misfortune, or brings comfortable substance for maturity and old age. To achieve that result, we offer our co-operation and suggest that you open with us a checking account and deposit your savings in our Savings Bank Department.

What Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Distribution Means to the Home

JAMES J. STORROW, fuel administrator of Massachusetts, says, "Don't burn a pound of coal in October. Cook and heat water for your household with a kerosene stove. It will save you money. It will perhaps keep you out of the coal line next winter. Cooking by kerosene is cheaper than coal. Kerosene can be bought anywhere."

"Kerosene can be bought anywhere."

This statement is particularly true throughout the Middle Western states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), whose distribution service is 100% complete. Kerosene is delivered to the home, whether on a distant farm, in a small town, or in a big city.

Imagination and foresight were required to anticipate the demand for petroleum products which exists today. Permanency in organization, efficient management and close attention to the minutest detail has resulted in establishing within this Company a spirit of service which is expressed in the far-flung system of distribution and delivery which makes every user of petroleum products in the 10 Middle Western States feel certain that his needs will be instantly supplied.

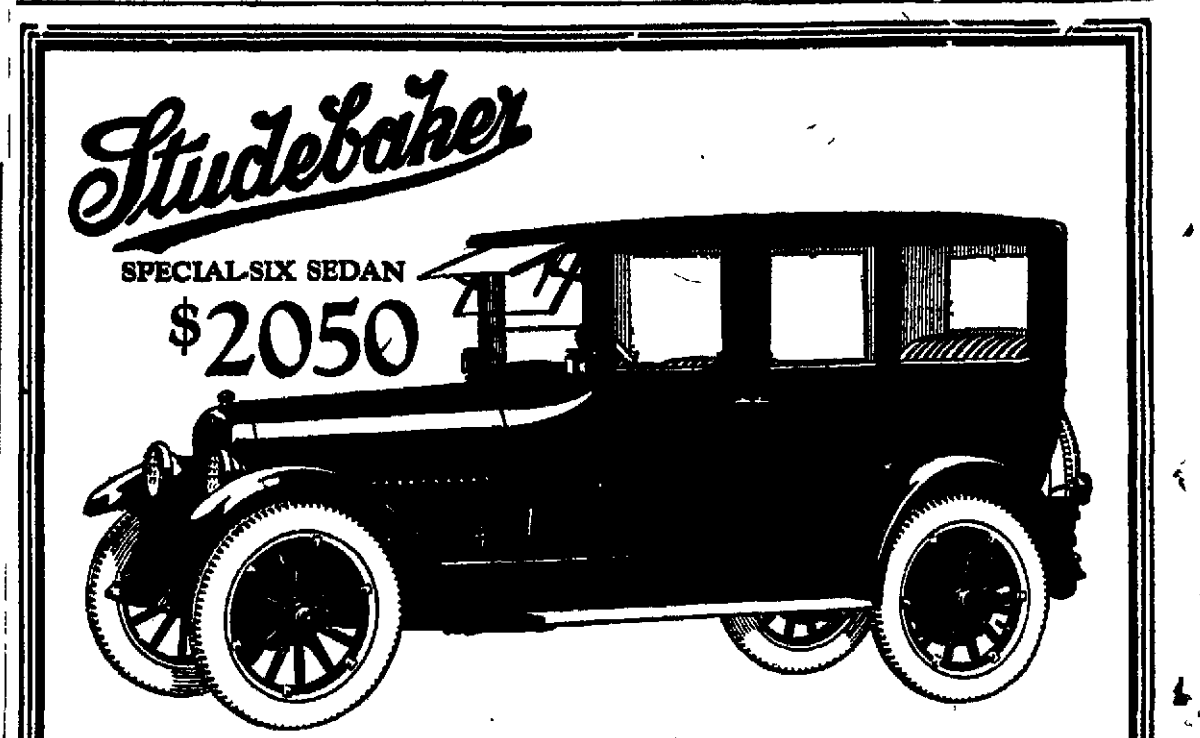

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) distributing system represents an investment of over $45,000,000. It includes 25 main stations where complete stocks of products are kept on hand, 3973 bulk stations, 1605 service stations and 7167 tank wagons. It has grown to meet the needs of the present and to anticipate the needs of the future. It is highly flexible and capable at all times of meeting emergencies, such as a coal shortage, in any section of the territory served. This service is available at every home.

To meet the needs of the public it serves is the ideal which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has before it at all times. It is alert to foresee a possible need for its products, and when the demand comes it is prepared to supply it; for example, the possible coal shortage has resulted in an unusual demand for a burning oil for use in home-heating plants, and the Company was ready with Stanolind Furnace Oil, which it had developed for this particular service.

Stanolind Furnace oil is equal to kerosene in heating value and sells at a lower price. This is another benefit accruing to the public at large, through an efficiently managed big business.

BISMARCK MOTOR COMPANY

Distributor Bismarck, N. D.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

To Burleigh County Voters:

A VOTE FOR COOPERATIVE AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION WORK will give you the services of a County Extension Agent, who is more necessary and valuable to the farmers than is a commercial club secretary to the business men of the cities.

- ### HIS DUTIES
1. He will help organize and launch Cooperative Marketing enterprises for such products as Livestock, Wool, Seeds, Cream and Potatoes.
  2. He will secure the aid of State Agents from the North Dakota Extension Division for solving special problems such as Grasshopper and Gopher control; eradication of Tuberculosis and Hog Cholera; introduction of a system of Cost Accounts on the Farm.
  3. He will be on the look-out for epidemics of insects or weeds which may threaten the crop, such as Cutworms, which are so prevalent in the western part of the state, and Sow Thistle, which is constantly spreading from the northeastern district. When these pests appear, he will launch a county-wide campaign against them.
  4. He will help introduce pasture and feed crops; rust resistant varieties of wheat; purebred sires and better dairy cattle.
  5. He will organize Boys' and Girls' clubs and supervise work for the members which will interest them in farming so that they will not want to leave for the city. At the same time the juniors on the farm will be earning money, securing educational advantages and getting a start in Purebred Livestock.
  6. He will arrange meetings of Farm Women at which talks and demonstrations will be given by State Agents in Nursing, Clothing, Sanitation, Food and other Home Problems.
  7. He will help spread farming practices which have been proven successful and profitable within the county.
  8. He will act as a clearing house between farmers who have articles and products for sale and those who want to buy them.

The County Extension Agent makes available for each farmer the educational advantages and the knowledge gained through experiments conducted by the North Dakota Agricultural College and the United States department of Agriculture.

THE COST

The cost of maintaining extension work in Burleigh county would not exceed 8 cents per $1,000 of property valuation, and this cost is paid by all the Taxpayers of the County—Railways, Farmers, Bankers, Merchants.

The Cost Per Quarter Section Would Average Only 18 Cents.
